Spurwink's knows the importance of a trauma informed system and all of its programs place an emphasis on our clients and families trauma history. We train all of our staff in the Children and Residential Experiences (CARE) from Cornell University and all of our clinicians are training in Treating Traumatic Stress in Children and Adolescents. This is the ARC training, Fostering Resilience through Attachment, Self-Regulation, and Competency.

I work for Spurwink Services. I am the Associate Regional Director of Outpatient and Community Services in the Western Region, which covers Androscoggin, Franklin and Oxford counties. Our primary offerings include children's targeted case management services and school-based mental health counseling. Our goal is to provide low barrier services to youth of all ages and their families.
