I am the program director for The Leadership School at Kieve. Kieve-Wavus is a non-profit who provided educational programming for youth and adults. It is based in Lincoln County, with staff working with students in Lincoln, Cumberland, Waldo, and York counties. We provide adventure-based, character education through residential and outreach programs. I organize the TLS programming as well as coordinate our educators that intern in schools during the winter months. We emphasize kindness and respect and building healthy communities. 6th, 7th, and 8th grade students discuss healthy risk taking and goal-setting -provide young, trained educators to collaborating schools to provide specific support in the school that addresses the community needs in the realm of kindness, respect and community building

I am a certified Master Coach and have been a Speech and Language Pathologist for more than 25 years. I work with children and adults individually and in groups. I work remotely but am also willing to travel. I am well educated and have personally studied the impact of adversity in childhood on both children and adults. I have worked in schools, homes, childcare and mental health agencies so I have familiarity with their structure. My coaching strategies are relationship based, focusing on improved self awareness and self empowerment. You can learn more about me and the services I provide on my website. Thank you and I look forward to serving you!

Our United Way volunteers and staff are available to present on ACEs and early childhood research. We have presented in the past to Rotary Clubs, groups of volunteers, and other community forums. Our Best Start Initiative is a community collaboration with Mid Coast Medical Group, Mid Coast Hospital, Maine Families, Early Head Start and other community partners to increase the number of families who are connected to and receiving parent supports through home visiting programs. Other efforts to decrease ACEs in our community through our work with CA$H Coalition, Diaper Project, and other local initiatives are described on our United Way of Mid Coast Maine website.

I work with a number of collaboratives to educate and prevent abuse. We also work to educate people on the impact of high ACEs scores and their impact on childhood development, education and future challenges. As a legislature I share information and point people to sources that will enlighten their understanding of the true impact of early childhood health, experience, nutrition, and safety.

Restorative Justice Project of Midcoast

We are connected with the statewide restorative justice movement; RJP is a non-profit organization dedicated to bringing fundamental change to the way our communities address crime and wrong-doing.

At its heart, restorative philosophy is all about nurturing safety, trust, voice and choice, and strengths-based responses to making things as right as possible. In the coming year, we strive to grow restorative practices within the LCYDC, in addition to sharing ACES and resilience education with staff and youth alike. Further, in the community context, we are working with partners across the state to improve capacity/access for adult offenders, and those they have harmed, to participate in restorative responses to crime.
